ports that when the Cleveland boom for 1892 reached the Buffalo Democracy from the New York banquet, he mercury dropped 30 degress in a few plantes.

The Democratic papers which are charking the Prosident with favoritism toward his own State should look up the record. President Harrison has given Incouraging that the Forest City, Arkansa, disorder has dropped so quickly out of sight. The theory of the Journal appears litical murders are committed as long as torts: no fuss is made over them to disturb the sensitive spirit of the Hugwunp. A more encouraging sight to men would be the conviction of some of the brutal assassing that have disgraced Arkansas in the past

Kentucky is to have a lively campaign for the election of State Treasurer in August. The Republicans have nominated John Z. Barrett, of Louisville, a lawyer 35 years of ago and a man of distinguished family, to run against S. G. Sharp, the Democratic candidate. Barrett; is very popular, a good working Republican and various elements of the Republican party in Kentucky, which have been pulling against each other for years. The party cart over 155,000 votes in the Presidential Denocrat, "that the negro is needed where he is, and his exodus would be an immeasurable calemity to the South. The Southern Bourbons murder and abuse the negro, deny to him the rights guaranteed by the Constitution and howl about the dangers of negro'supremacy, but when the negro unwilling to submit to perrecution talks of going elsewhere to live these same Bourbons declare that the exo-des of this despised race "would be a cathe tarlf-and tariff-is an vine of itable victors, and inconstitutional source c lamity to the South." If the order of things could be reversed and the South enloy the experience of an "exodus" of some of the political leaders of the Democratic party it would be a blessing instead of a

The Boston Herald in speaking of the special Congressional election in Hinds

anys:

The victory at the special election for a member of Congress in Illinois is said in the vicinity to have been more distinctly on the tarili issue. The district was a close our, and had been held considerably by the popularity of R. W. Townshem, the lately deceased representative of it. The protectionists pur, money, into the canvass, in view of the close condition of the flows, and they set up la farmers' candidate to divide the vote of the other side. Yet tarili reform swept the district, holding its own everywhere and making a considerable gains in some quarters.

This is about as near the fact as the

This is about as near the fact as the This is about as near the fact as the Herald over gets when talking about the a free trader.

The district in question has always been reliably Democratic, the average majority being from 5,000 to 3,000.

The district in question is a free trader.

We hold that the Similar lightly presented average majority being from 5,000 to 3,000.

Upon the presentation of "Grover Cleve-Last fall, however, when the "tarlif lesue" came into the election the Democratic majority was cut down to less than 2,500: In this special election the free traders did not make "considerable gains," but on the other hand the protectionists held the gain made by them last fall.

The Brooklyn Standard-Union eriticises, and with good reason, the demoralizing tendency of the newspapers to make a sensation over every dirty scandal that can be unearthed by reporters. It says: There is a large class of newspaper readers who buy a paper mainly for the scandals and sensations it contaids. Without such questionable news their paper seems to them dull and uninteresting. They hav been educated up to expecting a large daily supply of what is known as "racy" mat-ter, and in the great newspaper rivalry for circulation their tastes have been pundered to beyond the limits of endurance to the well-ordered mind. The seeds of immer-ality and wickedness, which are scattered so broadcast with such a free hand, cannot fail to bear fruit in the minds of youth. They are being made familiar with all that vile and despleable. The good teachings of their parents and the effect of the church and Sunday School are being terribly overreached by the continuous printing of details of scandal and immorality. It never existed to such a great extent as it does to-day and its power for evil was never greater.

Those who do not keep track of the postage stamp collection craze can hardly realize how the fad runs away with a man's Judgment. At a recent sale of rare postage stamps in Loudon a single British guinea stamp of 1856 brought $250, and wal considered cheap at that price. | Some Russian stamps are so rare that they will command almost any price, and attempts, are frequently made to forge them. The great collection of Phillippe Ferrari of Paris, contains a quarter of a million of stamps, and is thought to be worth about a million dollars. Mr. Philiprick recently sold his collection to M. Ferrari for $50, 000; and Sir Daniel Cooper, the well-know Australian collector, has sold his foe collection to the same 'collector for, $15,000 The collection of the late Duchess de 20th Anniversary Jubileo Festival Galllers is said to have cost nearly $300,000 and the cost of the 3,000 volumes in which it is contained was about $65,000. At the Paris Mint there is a remarkable collection, while the Rothschild collection in Paris is almost priceless in value. ; Rare stamps sell at from $100 to $1,000, and the collectors keep a close watch on all the sales throughout the world in order to secure the specimens they desire. Altogether the craxe represents, a factitious value, of millions of dollars. Can't

Must Be Presented As a Free Trader.

The New York Sun is not an admirer of Mr. Cleveland. It does not believe in his free trade decirlnes and recently remarked ; record. President Harrison has given indiana about fifteen appointments, all told, including his Cabinet officer and Private Secretary, while President Ceveland gave Indiana over 500 special agents, including Indian agents, and consultable and gents, including Indian agents, land agents, and consultable including Indian agents, and consultable including Indian agents, including Indian agents,

This frankness is distasteful to the Utica Daily Observer which wants to straddle the to be that it is little matter how many po tarff question as in 1884 and hepco it re-

Sun's admission as follows: Mr. Cleveland can be presented as "a candidate for it is promised that he will harmonize the smother Presidential canvass" in no other attitude than that of a free trader. All that he did a a President he did as a free trader. His message was not that of a tariff reformer, but of a tariff destroyer. He did not suggest that the details or the tarili law were ill-adjusted to existing conditions of commerce, but declared that the principle of tarid legislation with in-trinsically cvil. "Our tarid times, the in-equitable, ricious, and unconstitutional source by resease?" These were the word in which he trained his indictment. not only of the net of 1837 but of all tariff legislation past present, and future. He disclosed himself as a man at heart opposed not to starin for revenue only but to tariff for any purpose; In his eyn > rovenue," 1; is true that he admitted, at least by implication, that this vicious source could not be suggestly dried up without indicating incapeulable damage upon the trade of the country, but he declared himself anxloss to dam up the "Inequitable and vic-ious source," and to out off some of its main efficients, the duties on wool and from ore, for instance, as speedily as possible It is not possible for any man of common sense and common candor to real Mr. sense and common candor to real Mr. Cleveland's celebrated message to Congress and not to conclude that, its author is a free trader, as the words are commonly understood. The late President believed, as the late life and Coden and the late Valle. Path, but the late trader. John Bright did that the revenues of a a system of direct taxation. If Bright and Cobden were free traders Mr. Clevelarit is upon the presentation, of preriver engine land as a free trade enabled for, another Presidential carvess." We are sure that efforts now are in progress toward making such a presentation of Grover Cleviland. We shall not be surprised if such efforts are successful. The fight is between the Calliounists and the Randallists in the Democratic party, and it seems to us that the Calhountets llave the advantages of numbers, hudgeity and tradition. But we are doubly sure that it such a presentation of "Grover Gleveland as a free trade candidate" be offered to the people it will be rejected with a rough, because it will be released with a rough compared to which the event of last November was a mild and polite refusal.

Graphic Description by an Eye ., Witness.

Recovering the Bodies of the Killed.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3. Three hundred bodies were lying on the sand at Kernville at three this atternoon. An enormous crowd of people was gathered around, endaworing to find the bodies of friends/or relatives. No coffins were there actime and the bodies had to be laid on the ground. There are 500 coffins on the way here and the undersikers have sent for 600 additional ones. Kernville from now on will be the place where the most bodies will be found. The water has fallen so that it is possible to get at the bodies. All have to be dug out of the band and causes no end of work. It is thought that most of the bodies will be found at Kernville under a Recovering the Boules of the Killsil.

days, yet work within determination that is wonderful. An ungine from Pittsburg, which has been playing a stream on the fit of at the stone bridge all the latternoon, has it almost extinguished and the fite will be out by to-morrow, when the task of getting books from under the burning debria will commence in earnest. Ten bodies were taken out of the wreck near Cambria library this atternoon. On account of their mangled condition, some baying their faces crushed in, it was impossible to identify them. Eight biddes were recovered near the Methodist cliurch.

The Frightfol Loss of Life

The Frightin Loss of Life The Frightfel Loss or life Developments every hour make it more and more apparent that the exact number of lives lost in the Johnstown horror will never be known. All estimates made op to this time are conservative and will doubtless prove too small. [Over 1,000] bodies have been found since sunrise today and the most seeptical concede that the remains of thousands more are beneath the debtis above Johnstown bridge. (The the remains of thousinds more are beneath and injured in the haspitals, and the pricate the debris above Johnstown bridge. The population of Johnstown and surrounding generally useful. It to make themselves permit to the food was from 50,000 to 55,000. The concensus of opinion among the leading chitzens of Johnstown is that fully 30, per cent. of the residents of Johnstown and Cambria are victims of the combined distances fire and water. §Camot be Less Than 7,000 or 8,000

Of the thousands devoured by the flames whose ashes reat beneath the smoking debris above Johnsto wn bridge, no definite information can be obtained. As little will be learned of the fundrods that sank beneath the current. Home swiftly down eneath the current, borne swiftly down the Conemough and deposited a hundred the Cohemough and deposited a hundred miles below on the banks and in the defit wood of the Ohio. Probably one thou-sand of the dead will never be recovered. The loss can only be satimated and cannot be accurate, as there are many justances of whole families swept away, who found a common grave beneath the waters. At present there are said to be 2,200 recovered
